WHERE ARE THEY AT? The statement of the anthracite coal operators has been given the commission by President Baer, of the Reading railway. It is merely a general denial of the statement for the miners by President Mitchell, except that Baer protests Francisco. against any recognition whatever of the United Mine Workers, and questions the right of the commission to do so, although the operators virtually recognized the miners' union when they accepted the signatures of Mitchell and his associates to the proposition for a commission, both parties agreeing to accept the award and resumed operations in their mines. The differences between the operators and miners was just what the commission was appointed to investigate and pass upon; and further, the commission will also decide how and by whom the parties to the controversy-operators and miners-shall be represented. We have jumped on the Times for Baer's statement does not show the

The commission, however, will decide that point as well as others involved, and the operators will have to submit or kick out of their agreement to accept the commission's award. The persistent obstinacy of the operators suggests the query: Where are they at?

GENEROUS CATHOLICS.

The growth of the Catholic Church in the West is but the reflection of the progressive prosperity of the Catholic' settlers of that part of our county. Churches, schools, institutions are being built equal to those of other sections of the country, and it is the Western Catholics who pay for them. In Denver ground has been broken for a Cathedral to cost $300,000, and it is intended that it shall be free of debt whem completed. The site, one of the most desirable in the city, near the State Capitol, is the gift of Messrs. Campion, Brown and Sheedy, and the subscriptions and funds available already amount to $90,000. Thus before beginning the work nearly one-half the cost has been donated voluntarily by a few wealthy Catholics in the vicinity of Denver. Right Rev.
